That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Finance (No. 2) Bill because it fails to make a much-needed reduction in VAT for the hospitality and tourism sectors; fails to reintroduce tax-free shopping for international visitors; does not establish a more progressive tax system by introducing a starter rate, in line with the Scottish Government's approach; fails to introduce measures through the tax system that would help alleviate the cost of living crisis and reduce inequality; and fails to introduce tax relief measures to enable vital high-growth sectors, like the renewable sector, to grow the economy; and because it derives from a Budget which proposed to extend the Energy (Oil and Gas) Profits Levy, threatening the security of jobs in north east Scotland and the UK's ability to achieve net zero.

Sarah Olney

Ed Davey

Daisy Cooper

Wendy Chamberlain

That this House, while agreeing on the need to make changes to the High Income Child Benefit Charge and provide tax reliefs for creative industries, declines to give a Second Reading to the Finance (No. 2) Bill because it maintains the freezing of income tax thresholds, acting in effect as an unfair stealth tax hitting the living standards of working families and disproportionately impacting pensioners; fails to introduce a proper windfall tax on the superprofits of oil and gas producers; does not reverse the Government's tax cuts for big banks; and does not take steps to properly resource HMRC.

Neale Hanvey

Kenny MacAskill

That this House declines to give the Finance (No. 2) Bill a Second Reading because, notwithstanding the introduction of the Energy (Oil and Gas) Profits Levy ("the levy") Energy Security Investment Mechanism, the Bill fails to extend the scope of the levy to include all new offshore wind farms; fails to bring in tax measures to support the continuation of the oil and gas sector in Scotland, including the refinery at Grangemouth; and, with taxation from the levy being paid into the UK Consolidated Fund, fails to recognise that, according to the Scottish Government's Expenditure and Revenue Scotland report, 88.7% of North Sea revenue from the levy in 2022-23 was attributable to Scotland.
